A TOUCH OF ENVY

We are saddened by the thought that for some little while we shall be without the stimulating company of the two estimable associate editors of this journal. Our most immediate neighbour has betaken himself to the broad spaces of the West, where men are men and women the feminine gender. And our other colleague, who holds forth in the interior of this publication, has given way to his longing for the witchery of rustic environs, and will henceforth commune with nature instead of his readers.

Our poor overworked editor-in-chief and our own humble self will have to remain behind and slave to produce enlightenment and opinions for the benefit of our circulation.

It is pleasant to think of packed auditoria in cities near the Rockies; cheering crowds of enthusiastic Westerners eager for the words of inspiration from an ambassador of the East. It is gladdening to reflect on the joys and thrills that nature can offer her votaries in the sancta of her retreat. But these are not for us, cruel exacting readers. It is ours to stay in the sweltering city and cerebrate, and write, and write, so that you may not be uninformed even for one week. And now we sigh and proceed to work.

ORTHODOX CHILDREN

We are grateful to Rabbi Isserman for having taken the trouble before leaving on his extended trip to the West to dispose of the question of the conversion of Moses Mendelsohn's children to Christianity. Many citizens of Toronto were greatly disturbed over this matter. They simply could not figure out why Mr. and Mrs. Mendelsohn's children did not remain loyal to the Torah. Now their curiosity has been appeased. It is surprising that they did not stumble on the solution themselves. The Mendelsohns, you know, were of the Orthodox persuasion, and being Orthodox, it was natural that their children should have assumed the Christian faith. Reform Judaism is the bulwark against conversion. Orthodoxy leads to the church.

Which reminds us of the classical example of the wrong middle term in logic:

"All dogs are mortal;
Socrates is mortal;
Therefore Socrates is a dog."

What still puzzles us in this matter is this: Since Moses Mendelsohn was Orthodox, it must be taken for granted that his parents were also Orthodox. Now, if his parents were Orthodox, how comes it that Moses himself did not become a Christian?

A MEDDLING COMMITTEE

A "People's Committee" has now come into being in the United States with the object of bringing about peace between the two warring factors in American Zionism. The Zionist convention is now two weeks off. The Opposition, while not claiming a majority of delegates, is assured of sufficient strength to make its presence felt

THE KLAN IN SASKATCHEWAN

BY RABBI FERDINAND M. ISSERMAN

I. Premier Gardiner and the Klan

Since the Ku Klux Klan has sent its organizers from the States to establish the Klan in Saskatchewan, Premier Gardiner, of Saskatchewan, has been outspoken and fearless in his opposition to it. I recall how in his message to the Legislature a few months ago he exposed its methods, and initiated the prosecution of one of their organizers who had been accused of embezzling Klan funds. This organizer, Pat J. Emmons, had left Regina for his home in South Bend, Ind. He returned to Regina to stand trial, but was acquitted by the magistrate, because Emmons proved that he had not been guilty of embezzlement. The moneys he had taken were rightfully his. According to his contract he was to receive the $13 paid as an initiation fee by every applicant for membership in the Klan, as his share of the swag. Meanwhile Pat had fallen out with Saskatchewan Klan leaders, and was anxious to expose them. He stated in affidavits that certain conservative leaders in the province had planned to utilize the Klan to promote their political ambitions. All these facts were at the disposal of Premier Gardiner, and he was going up and down the province revealing them.

II. I Meet the Imperial Wizard of the Klan in Saskatchewan

While in Regina I had been scheduled to address the Canadian Club, a Jewish mass meeting, and the Regina synagogue. Following my Canadian Club address I was approached by some ministers who had been in the audience and who were in Regina attending the annual presbytery of the United Church of Saskatchewan. They asked me whether I would address the conference if an invitation were to be extended to me. I indicated my willingness, and later on I was informed that a unanimous invitation had been extended to me to address the presbytery the following morning.

I received a most gracious and enthusiastic reception at the hands of six hundred ministers and laymen, and left Knox Church, where the conference was held, quite thrilled by the ovation I had received, and by the request of the moderator to convey the greetings of the presbytery to the Jewish community of Toronto. As I emerged from the doors of the church I noticed an individual rapidly endeavouring to reach me. He accosted me and to my utter astonishment and amazement he said: "I am Rossborough, Imperial Wizard of the Klan in Saskatchewan. I want to congratulate you on your address. Fully one-half of your audience were Klansmen, and they applauded you so generously because when you voiced the hope for unity and brotherhood, you were voicing Klan ideals." I couldn't collect my breath quickly enough to say Sholom Aleichem to my imperial friend. I pointed out that if brotherhood was a Klan ideal, it had pursued most unfraternal tactics in the States to attain them. He then hastened to dissociate his organization from those in the States. He claimed that the Saskatchewan Klan was different, despite the fact that its organizers were Americans, who when the American field had been played out, came to Canada for fresh territories and more of those about whom Barnum said that one was born every minute. Mr. Rossborough told me of his grievances against Premier Gardiner who was going up and down the province denouncing and exposing the Klan. The Wizard claimed that the Klan was not anti-Jewish, but that it only admitted Protestant Christians as the B'nai B'rith only admitted Jews. A half hour of conversation failed to convince me that the Klan was not an organization inimical to Canada's highest interest.

III. I Interview Pat J. Emmons, Former Klazik of the Klan of Indiana

Subsequent to my chat with the Wizard, I interviewed Pat J. Emmons, an ex-member of America's Klan aristocracy and now the discredited organizer of the Klan in Saskatchewan, to whom I have already referred. Pat was in the limelight at the time. He had encavoured to speak at a public meeting to expose Klan methods, but a mob of two thousand had prevented him from making any statements. He was anxious to tell me all about the Klan, and he did. According to him, the Klan leaders were not even men who were sincere in their bigotries and prejudices. But they were a group of financial adventurers, who set out deliberately to arouse dormant hatred, that they might sell membership in their organization, and exploit these hatreds. The Klan in the States began by being anti-negro, anti-Catholic anti-Jewish, and anti-foreign. When they had secured as many members as this platform permitted they enlarged their platform to include foreigners as well as natives and the anti-foreign factor was temporarily forgotten. When all the susceptible foreigners had bought Klan membership, according to Pat, the Klan leaders were scheming out a method to organize negro Klans in order to fleece the negroes of initiation fees and dues.

The initial fees paid by every prospective Klansman were $13 in Saskatchewan. This entire fee was pocketed by Pat with the approval and consent of his superiors, who in turn were to receive the fees for admission to the other degrees, K Uno and K. Duo. Pat stated that for a while in Regina he was earning as much as $1,200 a day above his expenses. Before going to Regina he had been offered the Toronto territory, but that did not seem lucrative enough. He preferred Saskatchewan, where the Catholic population is 20 per cent. of the total, and where he could feed the fear bogeys of the masses. He also informed me that he had been offered a half-partnership in Australia. Australia is the most recent scene of Klan activity. It is now being canvassed because the Eucharistic congress is being held there next year, and hence Australia is good territory for Klan salesmen.

I asked Pat in what business he was in before he entered the Klan business. He replied that he had been in the evangelical business. He started life as a saloonkeeper, then became a professional gambler, then a horse-race follower, until he saw the light, hit the trail and became an evangelist. "I became a reformer, and filled churches, not because I had anything the other ministers didn't have, but because I could shout louder," stated Pat (shades of Elmer Gantry). Now Pat was through with the Klan. He was going to devote the rest of his life exposing it. He has already been offered $50,000 for a book he is writing, telling of the clandestine work of the Klan.

He related a tale of high life, of yachting parties, of women, of attempts to corral the governments of American States (successful in some, as in Indiana) and even of a bold plan to place its Kandidate in the White House and to select one of its officials to Mexico as American ambassador. The Klan leaders almost had control of the seats of the mightiest. An oath every Klansman makes is to deny his membership in it, when asked before judge and jury.

IV. How the Klan Enlisted the Support of Ministers

According to Pat, every minister eligible was offered an honorary membership in the Klan, and exempted from the payment of all fees. Here is how he won a minister in Moose Jaw. He made him an honorary member in the Klan. A few days later he offered him $25 to deliver a lecture on Christian ideals to a Klavern (a Klan meeting). He increased these lectures, and continued the fees, till the minister was doubling or trebling his income by Klan lectures. Within a few months, as Pat put it, the minister who had made his calls on a bicycle began to make them in a "Big Six" while smoking fat cigars, and the minister had become an enthusiastic Klansman.

V. The Most Colossal Swindle in American History

I asked Pat whether he himself believed that Catholics and Jews were together about to crush the puny Protestants. He laughed and said that he had too much brains to believe that. That is the stuff he fed the boobs whose shekels he got. He said, "We fed people antis. Whatever we found that they could be taught to hate and fear, we fed them. We were out to get the dollars and we got them. Pat believes that the Imperial Wizard, Evans, is one of the richest men in the States, through money he made developing the Klan. If these statements of Pat are true, and I believe they are (he showed me documents), then the Klan is the most colossal swindle put over on the American people in all their history. One cannot but shudder when one thinks how an unscrupulous group of blackguards set about deliberately to incite bigotries and to exploit them, and whose power and insolence grew to such proportion that, not satisfied with controlling governors of states, they were even scheming to move into the White House and to plunge a great nation into war. Such rascality seems inconceivable. That it succeeded so well is indicative of the stupidity of the masses, and exposes the weaknesses of democracies.

I asked Pat whether his conscience ever troubled him, because he had made profits at the expense of human suffering and perhaps of human life. Pat looked worried but only for a moment and then made the grandiose gesture that his future profits would go to Catholic, Jewish and Protestant orphans. I had always believed Klan leaders to be sincere religious bigots. I never knew that they were unscrupulous adventurers. They have made millions in the States, and already from the pockets of struggling Saskatchewan farmers, according to Premier Gardiner they have extracted $169,000.

Note.—Rabbi Isserman has just completed a lecture tour through Western Canada, where he spoke to Canadian Clubs, Service Clubs and Jewish communities. He visited the following cities: Fort William, Winnipeg, Regina, Saskatoon, Edmonton, Calgary and Vancouver. While in Regina he met the gentlemen who inspired the above article.

RABBI AND PRIEST

Ohio newspapers report that Clarence Van Buchanan was advanced to the Priesthood by Bishop Manning last Sunday morning. Clarence and I were school chums "in a little Ohio town." In very early school days we both resolved to enter the Ministry. Oft we met and "argued" religion; oft Clarence came to take lessons from us in Hebrew. On very special occasions we took Clarence to "Shool" and he in turn brought us to Church. We learned to know and admire each other. Years rolled on; college days came; distance separated us but spiritually we were ever united. To-day Clarence is a Priest; I a Rabbi. Clarence preaches in a church; I expound the law in the synagogue. Our friendship has not diminished—in fact, it is stronger than ever. Priest and rabbi -we are friends. We have realized our boyhood dreams. We are co-workers in the Vineyard of God. Our ways may differ but our goal is the same—to consecrate life and make it beautiful.

THE JEWISH PEOPLE'S LIBRARY

In these days of mere relief campaigns and charity drives it is refreshing to witness a cultural endeavour—a drive for a Jewish library. The Jewish People's Library organization has thousands of precious volumes that must be housed. It numbers thousands of eager readers who are anxious to obtain knowledge. We trust that Montreal Jews will help establish a worthwhile centre for a Jewish library.

CLAUDE MONTEFIORE

In no Jewish community in the present day is there found such a rare and unique personality as Claude Montefiore in England. A scion of the celebrated Montefiore family, possessed of wealth and social prestige, Montefiore has never forsaken the Book and the People of the Book. All his life he devoted himself to Jewish learning. He is a profound scholar and a great Jew. In English Jewry, which is so stubbornly conservative, he has been a light for religious liberalism. Claude Montefiore is the spokesman of Liberal Judaism; a Judaism which is making tremendous headway in present-day England. Like an Isaac M. Wise in the United States, Montefiore is reinterpreting Jewish life to-day in England in terms of the prophetic as opposed to the slavery of the ceremonial law. In the field of Jewish learning, in the domain of public welfare, Montefiore is the greatest Jewish layman. In the words of one of his admirers: "He stands to his community, not only in his beloved England, but all over the world, as the man among the favoured few who has been able to live the faith. He has shown by his life that it is possible to realize the Jewish ideal of consecration, not only in his work but in his conduct and his every-day life." On his seventieth birthday we greet him. May God grant him length of days.

BROWN AND FRANKEL

The Hebrew Union College conferred the degree of Doctor of Hebrew Law upon David Brown and Dr. Lee K. Frankel. There is no doubt about it that both of these men have rendered great service in the cause of Israel and all mankind. We are happy that Reform Judiasm is taking recognition of its unique lay leaders. We know of no other group in American Israel which possesses such fine lay leadership as is found in the Liberal movement. Congratulation to David Brown and Dr. Frankel.

Will Charles A. Levine, the flying Litvack, ever get that Congressional Medal? At present it is first on and then off by turns and if it ever does reach his lapel some of the glint will have been rubbed away in committee. Even if the gold in it is as gold as the medal that Clarence Chamberlain gets, Levine will not go down to posterity as a famous aviator. He may be famous and he may have flown in the first successful non-stop aeroplane flight from the United States to Germany in June, 1927, and it may have taken courage and all that, but history is going to call him an organizer and participant if, indeed, it calls him anything complimentary. If his friends in Congress had insisted on calling him an aviator or a pilot he might have had no chance at any kind of medal. The title of organizer and participant is a compromise between something and what may still be nothing. In the first place Levine was considered only a passenger, then he got to be passenger and backer. Now his friends are offering to fight for him if he doesn't get "a gold medal of appropriate design."

Poor Levine! The history of the case is this: May 12, a bill was introduced in the Senate for awarding a medal to Chamberlin with whom Levine flew. An amendment was offered including Levine and this was sent to the House where it was referred to the Committee on Coinage, Weights and Measures. This committee held a secret session at which it is understood three out of five members voted against the amendment, thus omitting Charles A. Levine, passenger and backer, from the proposed honour. Then Representative Cohen, of New York, introduced a new bill into the House, identical with the one passed in the Senate, asking that Congressional Medals of Honour be presented to Clarence D. Chamberlin, pilot, and Charles A. Levine, organizer and participant. Because adjournment of the House occurs soon it will be difficult to get a quorum of the Committee, and some say Levine was only a passenger anyway and others object to his getting a medal because of the government's claim against him for refunds growing out of war contracts, and, all in all, doubt as to a favourable vote on the medal for Levine has been expressed. In case he isn't presented with anything, what's to be done? Will he have to tell his grandchildren that he only went for the ride?

There is pathos in the pleasure Canadian Jews express when they get space in the daily newspapers for funerals or movements or campaigns. The pathos lies in the pleasure they take no matter what the newspapers do to their names. A Jewish paper must be not only accurate in this regard but just a shade better than perfect to the middle initial. The daily paper isn't and no one cries about it. In news of a recent Jewish funeral in Toronto nearly every name was wrong. There is no record of any one threatening to cancel his subscription to the evening daily as a result.

The Regina Leader raves about the Toronto rabbi "of fine catholic spirit who rose to the heights of a Hebrew prophet of the old days in his fervour and genuine power" and then calls him "Rabbi Israel Isserman." If any one refers to the Regina Leader as a rotten old paper that never gets anything right it won't be the Jewish people of Regina. They would rather have it an Israel than a nothing. It may not be a Ferdinand M. but you can't have everything.

On the rare occasions that you do have everything you may find it far too much. For instance, with regard to the publicity in the Dr. Ben Cohen trial in Toronto which was stopped because it was claimed that bribery of jurors was attempted, the Jewish race has been getting more than it wants. It was not necessary for the word Jew to appear in any newspaper account of this case but it did in plenty and will again with the same relish before the last word has been written about it. Many Jews will be bitter and downhearted about it but that won't have any more effect than a good-will dinner. At the recent Holy Blossom good-will dinner, newspaper representatives were there, but they must have eaten and forgotten or left town. It is said that there is no get-together like eat but if the spell wears off so quickly what price bother-about-it?

The newspapers in Toronto have often been a party to ill-will against the Jews. If they are not going to assist the general good-will effort enough to leave out the word Jew with the same impartiality that they leave out the word Presbyterian, the approach of better understanding may as well be announced as indefinitely postponed. As far as good-will between the Jewish people of Toronto and the daily papers themselves is concerned, practical common sense says it is postponed for a generation except perhaps in the case of the Daily Star. The Star has more forethought than the others and looks somewhat to the future. This future for the Jews can be understood after a glance across the border. In the United States where the Jewish communities are older than here and better established economically they control enough daily newspaper advertising to command the deserved amount of civil treatment and fair play that others get for nothing. It is not the custom any more for the printed word Jew to appear in a slurring, derogatory way. The Jews in Toronto are not yet firmly enough entrenched to make the newspapers ardent friends of the good-will attitude. They can all suffer for what one is accused of because the community is not influential. But their sons will have education, familiarity with the language, and the silver tongue of money with which to persuade to ordinary fairness. In 1950 the newspaper files of 1928 will give them surprise and a faint, amused contempt.

NORTHERN ONTARIO CANADA

Northern Ontario, now open for settlement at fifty cents per acre, contains millions of acres of the finest agricultural land in the world. Its resources in lumber minerals, water, power, fish game and scenery are immense. The land calls for men to cultivate it, and in return will give health, comfort and prosperity.

What settlers say of the soil climate, farming and forest life, is told in a most attractive booklet issued under the direction of the Honourable John S. Martin Minister of Agriculture for Ontario. Full instructions in regards to acquiring a title to these rich agricultural lands are also given.

POLISH JEWISH MERCHANTS RUINED BY HIGH TAXES

Jewish deputies in the Polish Seim have been besieged with numerous appeals from all over Poland against the heavy taxes imposed by the Government, which are mainly borne by Jewish traders. While these taxes, made necessary by the increased budget of the Government, are not directed specifically against Jews, they affect the Jews most, especially in the smaller communities, and this is threatening to bring economic ruin to thousands of them. Senator David Schreiber, one of the secretaries of the Senate, in an address which he recently delivered before the Senate, enumerated the numerous grievances of the Jewish population against the present Government and insisted on reforms being introduced whereby the economic and the national-political rights of the Jews be secured.

The economic stress during the past few years and the decreased birth rate are said to be the cause of the alarming decrease of the Jewish population of Warsaw during the past four years. A Jewish paper in Warsaw estimated that the Jewish population of the Polish capital diminished during this period by about eight per cent.

The street fights between the Socialists and Communists in Warsaw on May 1, resulted in the death of three Jewish workmen and the wounding of nearly 400 Jews.

"We would--(ahem!) talk of dirt!"

No dodging dirt in a laundry that specializes in family wash! Every housewife knows there is plenty in a bundle sent to a laundry. The trick in the laundry business is to separate the dirt from the fabric of the article being washed—that is, take out the dirt and leave the fabric unharmed. And to do this has cost many thousands of dollars in laboratory research work and many years of time. To-day we don't dodge dirt, because we know every kind and just how to handle it harmlessly. Your own home methods are not as inexpensive and certainly cannot be as safe as this laundry. Send your family bundle and feel safe. Five different services from which to choose. Phone to-day.

Keep ICE

on the Job Day and Night

YOU cannot keep food at its best, in window box, cellar, or in an uniced refrigerator in the entry way, even in the coldest weather. Ice is needed every hour of the day and night, every month of the year, else the flavor and freshness of food quickly deteriorate. Spoilage goes on in all seasons.

The most precious thing about food is its flavor. Protect it, at trifling cost, by taking ice in winter as well as summer. Let us keep you supplied.

NO STANDING ON PARK BENCHES

Owing to rain all the games in the Jewish Community League had to be postponed last week, the entire week being moved back to the end of the season. However, two games were played Monday night of this week, the first between Leonards, the champions of last year, and Herzl Zion. "Lefty" Glasner, of Leonards, pitched good ball, but homers by Irving Gold and Manny Stone tied the score in the sixth, 4 all, with the umpire calling the game. Al Cohen and Glasner hit homers for Leonards. In the second game Judean Benevolent beat Sunnysides 18 to 6 in a loosely played game. All the Judeans had hits with Benny Cohen and Shimmerman getting three each. The feature game of next week will be on Monday, June 18th, when B'Nai Brith play Herzl Zion, and arrangements are being made to have Tuex play Adanacs, one of the strongest teams in the city, in the second game on Wednesday, with the proceeds to go to the B'Nai Brith camp. Harry Siderman, who is known as the best softball pitcher in the city, will pitch for his Tuex team in this game. Once again patrons of the league are requested to stand behind the benches and also not to jump or stand on the benches as the Parks Department has written the executive of the league about this matter. Results of last Monday night's games follow:

at the convention. To its credit it must be said that while it is unrelenting in its dislike of the present administration, it has remained loyal to the cause of Zionism itself. Its leaders are prepared to carry on and work for Zionism in any event.

Now we can expect a series of breathless conferences by this new body; buttonholing of members of both sides; whispering; gesticulating; fussing and pothering; all in the name of peace.

We do not think there is cause for undue apprehension as to the outcome of the convention. An intelligent, sincere opposition is a salutory factor in any movement. The American Zionist organization needs revising and revamping. The Opposition will have a useful function to perform. We believe that if an eruption will take place at the convention it will have the effect of clearing the air. And we have no faith in these self-appointed meddlers even if they do assume a pretentious name like "People's Committee." There are cool heads among both sides. In a crisis they will be able to assert themselves and save the situation. Outside interference is apt to irritate those who are engaged in a fight for principles and raise feelings to a higher pitch.

The Zionist congresses have always been the scenes of the clashing of ideas and attitudes. Nobody has ever thought of attempting to remove the differences of opinion that necessarily exist and appear at the congresses. Why should we not have a vigorous presentation of dissentient opinion at the American convention? Let the two parties in American Zionism have a full opportunity of giving expression to their views of the Zionist situation. A harmony of the differences will be achieved, and such a harmony will be more valuable than a harmony resulting from the suppression of one or other of the conflicting forces.

ATTEND RALLY TO HEAR MAURICE SAMUEL

"American Jewry is fast becoming an intellectual centre and possesses a certain spiritual quality similar to that of Babylon, Spain, Russia and Poland in the glorious days gone by," said Maurice Samuel, author of "You Gentiles," in an address before the Business Men's Council of Federation at the dinner rally of all workers held at the Mount Royal Hotel, Monday, June 11.

"There is, however, a tendency to stress the means, whereas the end should transcend the means," he continued. "To be charitable is not a matter for praise but, decidedly, to be uncharitable is a matter of reproach," he maintained; "but, nevertheless, we must endeavour to concentrate on the spiritual and intellectual side of life to maintain the glorious traditions of a highly cultured people. Whenever Jewry in the past was threatened as an entity some forewarning, extraordinary and incomprehensible, enabled them to prepare for a general exodus to foreign climes where again they made for themselves a glorious history.

"Even as Babylon gave birth to the Talmud and Spain and Russia to a highly advanced Jewish culture, feeling and literature, so must America in turn contribute its share of greatness and play as important a part in the future of Judaism as Babylon has done in the past. Concentrate on spirituality and intellectuality and mechanize charity," he said, "since our bequest will embrace a combination of these two good qualities." Being a good Jew, he stated, means being a model citizen in whatever country one happens to be, forgetting any inferiority complex, it is an insult to character. Normal friendliness should be our attitude, any attempt to flee from our individual personality by copying mannerisms in our assimilation with foreign countries is not only futile but brings no resultant peace or physical harmony, he added.

Issacher Greenberg, president of the council, who presided, stressed the importance of co-operation on the part of all the workers in the collection of 2,000 outstanding accounts which amounted to $51,000. This amount was absolutely necessary to meet the philanthropic obligations incurred by Federation, and he maintained that it was up to the Business Men's Council to get subscribers make good their original pledges. Cards were distributed to volunteer workers.

A. H. Jassby outlined the excellent work of the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies and accounted for an expenditure of $87,353 against a budget of $80,000 during the past four months as a result of unexpected disbursements to the Old People's Home, Neighbourhood House, and an unusual increase of indigent families taken care of by the Family Welfare. The campaign of last November was to raise $200,000 to care for the needy during 1928, and to pay off the deficit of $50,000 for 1927.

Edgar Berliner introduced Maurice Samuel. Clarence Michaels, in moving the vote of thanks, said: "The realization was greater than the expectation," and was heartily seconded by the assembled members. At the head table were Issacher Greenberg, E. M. Berliner, H. H. Jassby, Sol Kellert, Lyon Cohen, Al Lesser, Samuel Hart, M. Abramovitz, Clarence Michaels, J. P. Levee, Michael Morris, J. JEWISH PEOPLE'S LIBRARY DINNER

There is a national significance in the act of building and supporting a library, Maurice Samuel journalist and author, told an audience of friends and associates of the Jewish People's Library, at a dinner Sunday, June 10, in the Mount Royal Hotel, in which the library committee made an appeal for the establishment of a building fund. Mr. Samuel indicated that the Jews are essentially the people of the book, and in referring to the library as a national symbol he summed up nationalism as embodying all of the spiritual, religious, artistic and emotional activity of a group of common descent and tracition. Joseph Cohen, K.C., Rabbi J. L. Slotnik, Rabbi H. J. Stern and S. Wiseman, principal of the Jewish People's Schools, spoke. N. Myerson was chairman. S. Wexler is chairman of the campaign.

JEWS VICTIMS OF WARSAW MAY DAY RIOTS

Nearly 500 Jews are among those injured in the May Day demonstrations on the streets of Warsaw, forming nearly 95 per cent. of all the injured. According to the latest reports the riots appeared more like anti-Jewish pogroms than May Day labour demonstrations. Two Jewish workmen were killed outright and another Jew has since died of wounds received at the time of the demonstration.

It appears that the Jewish labour groups had received permission for the public demonstration and that everything proceeded in a most orderly style, when, by some misunderstanding, motor cars manned by police arrived and attempted to disperse the demonstrants. The left Poale Zion assembled first in front of their headquarters and addresses were delivered by some of their leaders. The number of labourers participating in the demonstration this year was double that of last year, but there was no disturbance until a motor car endeavoured to cut through the lines of the marchers and threw down a woman, who was slightly injured. This caused a riot, and a large automobile, packed with armed police, arrived on the scene. The attack on the labourers was most cruel and many were wounded by the clubs and sticks used, so that blood actually flowed on the street. Many of the injured were innocent passers-by who had no share in the demonstration.

To a delegation of the Poale Zion, the Governor of Warsaw expressed his regret for the occurrence and promised to institute a thorough investigation of the whole affair. It was shown later that a Jewish policeman, G. Golcschmidt, was to a large extent responsible for the interest the police took in the affair because of the exaggerated reports that he presented of the possible consequences of the affair. Deputy Grunbaum has been collecting data of the riots with a view of making it a subject of interpolation in the Seim. Five Christian Poles have been arrested on a charge of firing revolvers into the crowd of demonstrators. The annual Lag B'Omer procession was in consequence prohibited by the authorities for fear of a repetition of the sad occurrences of May 1.

The Warsaw Kehillah is planning to take some measures against the increasing number of Jews who declare themselves as belonging to no religion in order to escape the heavy communal taxes. Many of these are professing Jews, but seek to free themselves from the taxes by declaring themselves outside of the Jewish fold. It is planned to prevent the burial of their dead in Jewish cemeteries in order to force them to maintain their allegiance to the organized community.

As a result of the constant quarrels between the Agudas Israel and the Zionists, the Polish Government ordered new communal elections in about 400 Jewish communities in Galicia and other Polish provinces.

A large orphans' home was opened recently in Brest-Litovsk with an imposing ceremony. The home will be maintained by the Jewish communities of that district, when the Joint withdrawing its support from such institutions. Several of the municipalities have promised substantial sums to aid in the maintenance of the home. A campaign for a million zloty for a new orphans' home in Warsaw is now in progress, under the leadership of Senator Shershevsky, who contributed a considerable sum himself to this fund.

Jacob Ettinger, who has been touring Argentina in behalf of the Keren Hayesod, was received in audience by the President of the Republic, who assured him of his deep sympathy with the plan of establishing a Jewish National Home in Palestine.
